

To Bronnie & Peter

On the occasion of a wedding shower for Bronwyn. This was attached to a large box of chocolates.

A shower! A shower! O what a delight
To gather with friends on this cold winter night
To anticipate joys that lie just ahead
For Bronnie and Peter on the day that they wed.

Just one week to go and they're feeling the strain
There's still lots to do involving muscle and brain
But we're here to help and to give them a hand
There's more than one meaning to a true wedding band.

We are all putting in to a deep money pot
We don't know what to expect but we hope it's a lot
To help with the costs of that expensive day
And to give something extra for the rest of the way.

But this gift is for taking on their honeymoon
In addition to having that fine money boon
So Bronnie, be careful to have the first pick
For Peter we know is a chocaholic.

If while he's chewing he's carried away
And forgets to remember its your wedding day
Just pull him up short and say "Its not meet
To be drooling o'er chocolates when I am your sweet."

When this box is empty, you've both had your fill
Just think of the sweetshops God has for you still
Where you taste of his blessings and feast on His love
Till you stand as His bride in the glory above.
