

Foreword

“How can I know God’s will for my life?” “What decision should I make?” “How can I be sure I am not stepping out of God’s will?”

These and other questions have often been asked me by fellow believers seeking counsel.

I usually answer by asking them three more questions:	(with typical answers!)
Do you really want God’s will in your life?	(“Yes! Oh, yes!”)
Does God want God’s will in your life?	(“Of course!”)
Then what is going to keep you out of His will?	(no answer!)

Do we really believe that Satan has the power to keep us out of God’s will, when we hunger for that will and God desires it? My heavenly Father has no need to reveal more of His will than He has already spoken in His Word, the Bible, and He loves me too much to play games with my emotions. He doesn’t have a blue-print for me in Heaven which He deliberately hides from me, causing many weary hours and tearful nights as I endeavor to find His secret will! His only goal is to make me like His other Son, Jesus, and He will do this as I yield to His leading, as I walk the walk of faith.

Stepping Stones is the testimony of one who has learned how to walk by faith. It is always easy to look back and see the path that one has followed; it is not so easy to know the pathway ahead. As you read this story, please look for those many incidents that the world would call coincidences, but which I now know to be His stepping stones in my walk of faith.

For any who may be just starting the journey, be assured that there is an exciting pathway ahead and your heavenly guide is eagerly anticipating walking it with you. Just hold on to His hand!

Gareth
